

RALSTON FORGING AHEAD IN BALLOT

GOV. SMITH TAKES LEAD AS MCADOO DELEGATES LEAVE HIM FOR HOOSIER

Madison Square Garden, July 8.—With no nomination yet in sight, the Democratic national convention recessed this afternoon at 1:50 Central daylight savings time until 8 o'clock tonight, Central daylight saving.

The motion to recess was introduced by George Brennan, Illinois Democratic leader in the hope that something definite in the way of accomplishments for the night's session might result. It was seconded and a delegate from Missouri, given an opportunity to debate the question from the platform said:

"Unless some delegates come here prepared to nominate a candidate instead of trying to keep somebody from being nominated, we'll never get any place. There are so many presidential aspirants in the hall it is impossible to get through the aisles."

The convention started on 88 and balloted through 93 today.

A full blown drive for Senator Samuel M. Ralston, of Indiana, to break the deadlock that has continued for ninety ballots between McAdoo and Smith was under way this afternoon.

Starting with 98 votes on the 88th ballot, the first of today's session, Ralston crossed the century mark on the 89th, climbed to 159 on the 90th and reached 196 3-4 on the 92nd, his high mark.

His managers claimed they had been assured of support from a number of McAdoo's western states. Ralston's gain on the 90th ballot were scored chiefly in Missouri, Nevada and Oklahoma, all three of which voted solidly for him.

McAdoo dropped steadily down the ladder, polling but 214 on the 93rd ballot, while Smith led with 354.

The Indiana delegation set up the shout:

"Come on, let's go home. Come on, get on this band wagon."

Ralston's gain on the 91st ballot was principally attributable to Kansas, the delegation going solidly for him.

Up to the 91st ballot, Ralston has drawn his following chiefly from the McAdoo states—Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Nevada, Mississippi, with help from Michigan, Ohio, and of course his own Indiana.

Madison Square Garden, New York, July 8.—The field of candidates for the presidential nomination widened out in the Democratic national convention today on the 88th ballot.

William G. McAdoo dropped to a new low level with only 315 1/2 votes while Governor Al Smith steadily held his lead at 362.

North Carolina switched to her favorite son, Josephus Daniels; Kansas and Iowa both voted for favorite sons while Senator Ralston maintained his last night's pace of 97 votes.

Greene County has a representation of thirty-one students in the summer school at Wilmington College, the enrollment of which runs very close to the 500 mark.

C. A. Waltz, superintendent of schools here, is again a member of the faculty for the summer session, making daily trips to Wilmington to hear recitations and to deliver lectures in the courses of psychology which he gives.

Payette County has a delegation of the same number, though Clinton county, the home of the institution, has sent in eighty-seven for the session. Highland County takes the lead in enrollment figures for outside counties, having sixty-eight students. Adams County comes next with fifty-nine and Warren close behind with 59 enrolled.

Eleven are enrolled from Xenia, as follows: Flora S. Beam, Martha Beam, Evabelle Crumley, Mary DeVote, Irma Evans, Martha Johnson, Margaret Miller, Ruth Rector, Mary Elizabeth Rector, Reva Spahr and James Saylor.

Jamestown has the next largest delegation, with eight enrolled. They include Mrs. Gene Beal, Gladys Buckwalter, Fern Campbell, Hazel Hutsler, Georgia Stewart, Florence Syfard, Mary Elizabeth Tobin and Grannet Campbell.

There are four students registered from Spring Valley—Hazel Burn, Atta Gregg, Ruth Murray, Kathryn Turner and Margaret Veller.

Others on the roster are Teresa Ryne, of Bellbrook; Sarah Glass and Eleanor Lackey, of Cedarville; Charlotte M. Louis, of near Dayton; Sara Haines and Edith Inwood, of New Burlington; Carl Arehart of near Sabina.

Slump Returns.

Washington, July 8.—C. Bascom Slump, secretary to President Coolidge, returned to his desk after an absence of three weeks. "I am back on the job," he said, dispelling rumors that he had quit permanently over a disagreement between himself and William M. Butler, Republican national committee chairman, over the management of the Cleveland convention.

ANOTHER NEAR CYCLONE HITS CITY OF LORAIN

Residents Terrorized By High Wind—Citizens Want Special Session

Lorain, O., July 8.—Several persons were recovering from injuries today as the result of a near cyclone which struck here last night, spreading terror among the occupants of tents, that had replaced ruined homes as residences following the tornado of ten days ago, which took a toll of seventy known dead, with thirty more missing.

The injured, occupants of an automobile passing on one of the streets, was thrown against a telephone pole by the fury of the gale. Tents were blown down, telephone and telegraph wires were thrown to the streets a tangled mass, and for a time fears were expressed that another tornado was on the way.

City officials were to go to Columbus today to ask Governor Donahoe to summon the legislature in special session for the enactment of relief legislation. The city's tax duplicate was almost wiped out by the storm and a payroll increased 500 per cent as a result, has to be met. Schools are facing a critical situation which cannot be met, officials say, unless funds are appropriated directly from the state treasury.

Columbus, July 8.—At a conference between Governor Donahoe, Chairman Fred A. Miller of the state relief commission and heads of several civic organizations, co-ordination of the various agencies which have been designated by the governor as active participants in the statewide campaign for the relief of the victims of the Lorain disaster was accomplished.

It was announced that headquarters for Lorain relief will be opened in the state house by the governor, making use of all available stenographic and clerical aid that can be provided by the various state departments. Letters and telegrams are being sent out by the governor to all insurance companies, building and loan associations and large industrial concerns in the state, asking for large contributions to the fund.

Chairman Miller said: "The popular subscription is proceeding nicely, but larger contributions and subscriptions from corporations and well-to-do people are not coming in as fast as they might."

Governor Donahoe and Chairman Miller are still against a nationwide campaign for funds, in spite of the protests of Mayor Hoffman of Lorain. The general assembly will not be called until the relief commission completes its investigation and finds out how much money will be needed in addition to what is raised by popular subscription, the governor said. He added: "The relief commission is studying out the problems of Lorain and Sandusky seriously and will not act on impulses. When the time comes for the calling of the legislature into session, I shall not hesitate to take such action."

The plan outlined by State Chairman Miller and approved by the governor provides that Rotary and Kiwanis clubs shall be the active soliciting agencies for popular subscription in cities where they have clubs, and that they shall call upon other luncheon clubs to assist them. In cities where there are no luncheon clubs chambers of commerce shall be in charge. Organizations such as the farm bureau, bankers' associations and building and loan associations, will pay particular attention to their own membership. The Ohio Federation of Women's clubs has been designated as the official agency representing the women of Ohio in the relief work.

State Director of Education Vernon M. Reigel reported to the governor that the motion picture interests in Ohio would give screen publicity to the relief campaign immediately.

The governor pardoned nine liquor law violators held in the Lorain county jail on condition they place themselves at the disposal of the relief commission and assist in cleaning up the city.

Great Britain Shows Regret

London, July 8.—Death of Calvin Coolidge, Jr., son of President Coolidge of the United States, aroused the deepest sympathy in Great Britain today.

Editorials of regret were printed in the newspapers and messages of condolence were sent to Washington in large numbers.

It was expected that King George, Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales and Premier MacDonald would send messages during the afternoon.

Cabinet Meeting Is Called Off

Washington, July 8.—The regular Tuesday cabinet meeting was called off and many other government functions ceased, out of respect to Calvin Coolidge, Jr.

Shortly before ten o'clock, President Coolidge, plainly showing the strain which he has been under preceding his son's death, went to the executive offices from the White House to receive a number of officials who came to express their sympathy for the bereaved Coolidge family.

Among these were Secretary of War Weeks; Postmaster General Nease and Acting Secretary of State Wright.

Mrs. Coolidge remained in retirement in her apartment in the White House.

White House Becomes Ordinary Home As Death Beckons President's Son

Simple Funeral Services Planned For Calvin Coolidge, Jr.—Burial Will Be Made At Plymouth, Vt., After Brief Services Wednesday Afternoon At White House.

Washington, July 8.—Calvin Coolidge, Jr., will be buried at Plymouth, Vt., according to final arrangements discussed at the White House today. The tentative plans which have not yet been officially decided upon call for brief services in the east room of the White House at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge would then take the body of their youngest son to their old home, in Northampton, Mass., on the Federal express, leaving Washington a few hours later.

Funeral services would then be held in Northampton on Thursday, with interment at Plymouth on Friday.

Washington, July 8.—The White House today became just an ordinary American home where death has entered and taken away one of the loved ones from the family circle.

Bowed down by grief and sorrow, the President and Mrs. Coolidge, who spent a sleepless night, following their return to the executive mansion, shortly after the death of their "baby boy," Calvin Jr., at Walter Reed hospital, at 10:30 p.m., began preparations for the funeral.

The body of their son, who was stricken down after a miraculous battle against blood-poisoning, was brought back to the White House at dawn and placed in the historic east room. Photographers were permitted to make no pictures of the casket as it was carried into the mansion.

Although details were lacking this morning, it was tentatively planned to have funeral services of the most simple character at the White House, probably tomorrow. The desire of both the President and Mrs. Coolidge is to avoid anything in the nature of a state funeral.

Burial may take place in Arlington National cemetery, in Northampton, Mass., where the Coolidges made their homes for many years, or among the president's forebears in Vermont. This will be decided during the day.

when the saddened father and mother are better able to turn temporarily away from their grief to select their son's last resting place.

Grief over the death of the president's son was not confined to the White House. The entire capital has joined the presidential family during the past five days in hoping and praying for the boy's recovery, although it became apparent on Saturday night that death was certain.

Thousands of expressions of sympathy reached the White House last night and today.

Many of course, were the official and formal messages, from foreign capitals and officials in this country; but the greater number were the simple, heartfelt messages of mothers and fathers throughout the land, who hastened to express their sorrow at the sudden death of the president's youngest son. Neither Calvin Jr., nor his 18 year old brother, John, had a wide circle of intimate friends in Washington in view of the fact that both had been in school almost continuously since their parents have occupied the White House.

In the few official functions, however, in which they participated, they had made many acquaintances and had the respect and admiration of all. With his older brother, Calvin was spending a brief vacation at the White House with his parents before entering a citizens military training camp.

The end came after the boy had battled with the utmost bravery and fortitude for five days against a disease which had racked his body with pain and sapped the reserve strength of his frail constitution.

President and Mrs. Coolidge, who had maintained constant vigil at the hospital, were at his bedside, hopeful both in checking in school almost continuously since their parents have occupied the White House.

A sinking spell, the fourth he had suffered in 24 hours, brought death. Notwithstanding the use of oxygen and other restoratives, the courage which had withstood crisis after crisis and had beaten death off repeatedly, was unable to meet the final attack. The collapse began at 6:30 and he gradually sank into eternity. He died at 10:30 o'clock.

Every resource of medical science was brought into play in the vain effort to save young Coolidge's life. An operation was performed on the left leg last Saturday night to drain off the poison, and blood transfusions and oxygen were resorted to in the later days of the illness.

The natural strength of a boy of 16, however, which was counted on as the most powerful resisting force in the creeping poison, was unable to meet the issue, and after having fought a brave, but always losing fight, he succumbed.

One of the final complications and the one which the physicians were unable to meet was the formation of gas on the stomach. The organ was washed out repeatedly in an effort to put it in condition to retain nourishment.

Young Calvin was removed to the hospital Saturday and an operation on the same night revealed inflammation of the bone marrow of the left leg, where the infection first localized in part. A slight rally followed, but on Sunday night his condition grew so serious that blood transfusion and oxygen administration were resorted to.

Three sinking spells Sunday night brought him to the point of death. A slight rally Monday gave slight hopes but soon thereafter he began again to lose ground and the fever rallied again.

The infection developed from a broken blister on the right foot received during a tennis match with his brother, John, on the White House courts last Monday. At first paying no attention to it, the youth developed an alarming condition by Wednesday night physicians were summoned.

From noon of the 4th, he grew steadily worse and was finally taken on Saturday evening to Walter Reed hospital for an operation. This was performed on the left leg where the disease had localized temporarily, but it became plain soon afterward that the poison was sweeping through the body so rapidly and so completely that nothing short of a miracle could save the boy's life.

Calvin made a brave and determined fight to live.

The fight went on throughout Sunday and on Sunday night at three separate times, it appeared to the watchers in the sick room that the boy's pulse had stopped. He rallied again and again, however, with the result that hopes were expressed yesterday morning that he would recover.

During the afternoon, gas began to form on the stomach and from that time on, the boy's condition became graver. A noted stomach specialist was called into consultation but his efforts to introduce food into the stomach proved unavailing. At 6:30 o'clock, last night, there was a collapse, but with the same fortitude that marked his illness from the start, Calvin lived four more hours, breathing his last at 10:30 o'clock.

Blood transfusions were resorted to in an effort to build up the poisoned blood and during the last few hours oxygen was administered.

Calvin was born in Northampton, Mass., on April 13, 1898. He completed the grammar grades when he was 11 years old, attending the Northampton High school for two years and then entered Merceburg academy in Pennsylvania.

He was a good student, always standing near the head of his classes and the only outdoor sport in which he ever engaged—tennis—was the game he was playing when he contracted the poison which caused his death.

"He was a real American boy," said Frank W. Stearns, one of the President's intimate friends, while Dr. Joel T. Boone, one of the White House physicians in attendance during the boy's illness, described him as a fighter, thorough and thorough.

Calvin was one of the finest representatives of young American manhood," Dr. Boone said. "He wanted to live and he made every effort to live."

Calvin Coolidge, Jr., was the first son of a president to die in Washington since Tad Lincoln passed away in his father's arms at the White House in 1863.

Calvin had grown rapidly in the last two years and was consequently frail physically. He was 5 feet 11 1/2 inches tall—an inch taller than his father—and weighed 115 pounds.

SOCIALISTS PERFECT PLANS TO LAUNCH NATION WIDE CAMPAIGN

Cleveland, O., July 8.—Done with its most important task, endorsement of Robert M. LaFollette, Republican, of Wisconsin, for the presidency, the Socialist party devoted its final sessions today to perfecting plans for launching immediately a nation-wide campaign in the national state elections this November.

With the exception of presidential and vice presidential candidates, the party decided to place independent socialist tickets in the field all over the country.

For the first time the party in pledging support to LaFollette has a presidential candidate, not of its own political allegiance.

The bitter fight to endorse LaFollette rather than choose its own candidates, carried in the convention because the leaders assured the delegates that only by "uniting with the LaFollette forces this year can the socialists hope to make any headway at the polls."

The convention also instructed its representatives who will confer on the LaFollette candidacy with the national committee of the conference for Progressive Political Action to fight for the formation of a new labor party at the convention which the conference called for next January.

Socialists want the new party to be modeled on identical lines with the British labor party. Major George L. Berry, president of the Pressmen's union and a candidate for the Democratic vice presidential nomination, replaced Huston Thompson, chairman of the federal trade commission as the convention's favorite, for running mate of LaFollette. Berry's name, regardless of whether he is nominated at New York, will be advanced by Socialist leaders, when LaFollette meets progressive groups on July 18, in Washington, to pick a candidate to make the race with him.

A rallying call was sent nationwide by the convention today for Socialists and progressives everywhere to join the LaFollette Campaign.

Representatives of the party were instructed to confer with LaFollette on July 18, regarding the vice presidential selection.

HEAVY BLACKBERRY CROP IS EXPECTED

The blackberry crop in the hill counties, while a little later than usual, promises to be heavy again this year, if nothing interferes between the present and the time for ripening of the berries.

The old belief that rain on the second of June would ruin the berry crop seems to have been a little "off" this year, as rain fell on that day, and apparently it did not affect the berries.

WHEAT BEING CUT

The first wheat in this part of Ohio to be cut was placed in the shock July 4 and the fields ready for the binder at the present are few and far between. Recent rains have not damaged the wheat crop to any extent and a normal crop is expected.

BERNARR MACFADDEN.

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

There is perhaps no phase of physical training which is of more vital consequence than the matter of breathing, for it is upon this uninterrupted respiration that we depend to keep up the very fire of life. Any stoppage of the breath is very quickly fatal, and since the very fact of continued breathing is so important, the quantity and character of it is also a pertinent consideration.

Natural and deep breathing should especially be given attention by women because of the manner in which most fashions in clothing have interfered with its possibility. The wearing of two piece garments with constricting skirt bands and belts at the waist line, practically prevents any attempt at natural breathing, and especially so because of the corset which has been almost universally worn. This interference with the very bellows of life is only one of the crimes of the corset, but it is one of the most glaring of them all, and without doubt goes far to explain the reason why men have in the past regarded women as the "weaker sex."

If men had been subjected to the same fashion for several centuries, having the greater part of their breathing apparatus cut off from service, with chest walls pushed in, and abdominal viscera pinched almost beyond endurance, while at the same time the bodies of women were free and untrammelled, we should now have a very different story to tell as to which is the "weaker sex."

The first necessity, therefore, not only for correct breathing but for the health and general development of the body is to get rid of the corset, and to wear such clothing as will permit of the free expansion of the body in the region of the waist line and abdomen.

If you wish to ascertain more exactly whether or not your breathing is entirely satisfactory, stand up, take a deep breath, and observe not only the expansion in the region of the stomach and abdomen but also at the sides and back.

FLAG AT WHITE HOUSE LOWERED

Washington, July 8.—The flag of the White House was half staffed at 10 o'clock this morning out of respect to Calvin Coolidge, Jr., dead son of the president.

During the Harding administration, the precedent was broken when Chief Justice White died.

MODISH MITZI--Who Ever Spends Pin Money For Pins?

Polly spends her pin money for handkerchiefs. Two are of printed linen—the camels are done in sand color, of course—the third is embroidered and edged with net. The important thing, though, is Polly's hat. It is velvet—yes, velvet for summer!—of a soft shade of cerise and edged and trimmed with folds of white tulle.

The young woman who lives in the shoe window has on a new and importantly fashionable scarf. It is white crepe de chine with butterfly-wing ends of jade crepe. Appliques of butterflies carry out the motif. The handkerchief is another one of those charming printed crepe de chine affairs that complement the tailored costume.

Mitzi's pin money goes for jewelry. She is looking at a new bracelet made of gold in three colors. On the counter is a string of indestructible pearls combined with emerald colored stones. Around her neck is another necklace of indestructible pearls with the new jeweled side clasp. Her hat is a smart variation of the cloche.

Eleanor's hat is one of the newest and most popular styles. Unbound felt shapes, all close fitting models, trimmed with either white or colored gardenias, are the fashionable hats for summer. She is about to spend her pin money on a London purse of morocco completely fitted out with a purse, mirror, cigaret case and powder puff envelope.

In response to a telegram received by Dr. Austin M. Patterson, president of the Xenia Kiwanis Club, from Governor Vic Donahey, relative to measures to be taken by Xenia organizations to aid Lorain in the city's rehabilitation program, a joint meeting of the standing committees of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, together with Dr. H. C. Messenger, commander of Joseph P. Foody Post, American Legion and the Rev. W. H. Tilford, chairman of the Greene County Red Cross was held Tuesday noon.

Tentative plans for a drive under the auspices of the organizations of the city were laid at the meeting. Pending the announcement of a definite quota for the Greene County drive, from the National Red Cross, which is heading the relief work, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs have appropriated sums for temporary relief, which will be forwarded to Lorain.

Necessity for immediate action and need of large fund is so imperative that personal thorough and systematic solicitation is necessary. Your plans should cover soliciting from manufacturers, merchants and individuals. Wherever possible have committees of workers solicit industrial plants. Request your local papers to give publicity to this request, your plans and your results. Necessity requires that pressure be put back of this campaign. Will advise of quota soon as Red Cross survey completed. Department Disaster Relief American National Red Cross in complete charge of relief and rehabilitation and will make all disbursements. Report details of organization and make daily reports of progress. Turn funds over to any bank to be forwarded to D. C. Willis, Treasurer Federal Reserve Bank, Cleveland."

RESERVES TO CHASE OLD MAN JINX SUNDAY

The Xenia Reserves will try to stage a comeback Sunday afternoon at Washington Park when they meet the Seitz and Frey team of Eaton, Ohio.

The locals played miserable ball last Sunday and the result was they were downed by the Fayette County All Stars. The locals got enough hits to win the contest but they could not hit at opportune times.

Hits that do not score a runner or advance a runner are no good and are wasted. The Reserves played the bunting game last week whereas they should have hit straight away or else tried the hit and run play. Straight away hitting will always score more runs than bunts. A bunt is generally used in a tight game and last week's game was far from tight.

The Eaton team has been going at a lively clip and to date has only dropped one game. That was to New Lebanon last Sunday which team won 4 to 3 in a twelve inning game. The Eaton outfit will give the Reserves plenty of opposition. The game will start at 2:45 o'clock. Same price of admission will prevail.

AMERICAN OLYMPIC ATHLETES IN LEAD DESPITE LOSSES MONDAY

By DAVIS J. WALSH

Colombes Stadium, France, July 8.—Although the American Olympic athletes are today in the lead for the title, due to their record breaking stunts yesterday, followers of the game believe that the boys from across the sea have to face the hardest proposition in the history of the Olympics.

The American contingent is disappointed that their boys did not roll up a much bigger point score yesterday. Inability to do this was due to the fact that Charley Paddock failed to come through in the 100 metre dash, the event being won by Harold Abrahams, the Englishman. Instead of getting the eighteen points that had been conceded the Americans in this event, the Yankee runners scored only 11. The American team also lost four points through the disqualification of Charley Brookins of Iowa University in the 400 yard hurdles in which event he finished second. There was some dissatisfaction over the decision disqualifying Brookins.

Eight events are on the card today. They are trial heats in the 110 metre hurdles; finals in the broad jumps; trials in the 200 metre run; finals in the shot put; finals in the 80 metre run; semi-finals in the 110 metre hurdles; trials in 200 metre and trials in the 5000 metres.

The Americans believe they will run a big score in the shotput, feeling sure that Hills, Hartrant and Housen, who have been hurling the missile over 50 feet in practice, and Anderson who has been "going over the top" will add to the Yankee score. Their only competition will be Pohola and Torp, Finns, who have not come anywhere near the American mark in practice.

Officials of the American team have received an invitation for teams of stars to tour Germany, Czechoslovakia, and Austria after the Olympic games, competing with the athletes of those countries.

The invitation was extended by Hans Borowik, editor of the Berlin Sport Blatt, former secretary of the German Athletic Union, who made a special trip from Berlin to conclude arrangements. He promised the American committee that all expenses would be paid and that huge, enthusiastic and friendly crowds would witness the games. Because many of the athletes are competing in England on July 19, and many later going to Dublin for the Irish Olympics, it is doubtful if many of the athletes will accept the offer to compete in central Europe.

The sword fencing team of the United States was defeated today by France, by a score of 9 to 6. Italian swordsmen defeated Spain, 10 to 5.

Husband and Wife Shot.
Cleveland, July 8.—Mrs. John Venerka, 34, is dead and her husband was fatally wounded, following an alleged attempt by Venerka to end both their lives. According to William Tresney, 12, Mrs. Venerka's son by a former marriage, the shooting occurred when Venerka became enraged because his wife protested his following her home from a picnic. Mrs. Venerka was shot twice through the head, once through the chest and the right cheek. Her husband was shot through the temple.

Joseph Schwartz, Jr., 20, was killed and his parents injured when a bomb explosion wrecked a wholesale sugar house at Detroit.

Ten dead was the toll from the ill-fated steamer Three Rivers, which burned to the waterline in Chesapeake bay.

Clarence O. Baring of White Plains, N. Y., accused of trying to murder his wife by putting disease germs and poison into her food, was committed to the Matteawan state hospital for insane.

After sending three bullets into the brain of Mrs. Bessie Stone, 40, widow, Cyrus Shellenberger, 50, wealthy retired farmer at Ewart, Mich., turned his pistol on himself and died immediately.

John D. Rockefeller, Sr., quietly observed his 85th birthday anniversary in New York.

Rail Employee Blamed.
Washington, July 8.—Director Borland of the bureau of safety of the interstate commerce commission reported to the commission that the wreck of a Wabash passenger train at Williamsport, Ind., on June 1, which resulted in the death of 13 persons and injury to 48, was caused by failure of a railroad employee to properly lock a switch, which opened as the train passed over it. The report said the switch had been last closed by Head Brakeman Torrance of the Wabash, who later, in response to a question, told Conductor Melson that it had been properly closed.
